A world away

If you have ever dreamed of transporting yourself to an exotic location for the weekend to escape the hum drum of your mid week urban work routine, then this beautiful Asian inspired residence is for you. Set on a large allotment on the edge of a native National Park valley and overlooking the breaking surf in Eastern View, the property provides a true private oasis from the outside world. Set amongst a stunning landscaped native garden, the 4BR residence has been sympathetically designed to the contour of the land and the Asian influences are evident from first sight. The sense of space provided by the open plan of residence with its Jarrah floors, large picture windows and relaxed welcoming layout evokes a feeling of being in a special private place. The sound of the breaking waves echo up the valley and you can check the surf each morning from your bedroom to decide whether to surf or relax. It is close enough to comfortably stroll to the beach and further enough away from the Great Ocean Road for it not to be an issue. If you have been looking for something special and having trouble
